

Ziyanda Mazamisa

ZiyandaM, the founder and principal of ZiyandaM Consultancy that partners with individuals and organisations to catalyse transformation through coaching, workshop facilitation, and public speaking. She combines rigorous practice with creative inquiry to design experiences that shift perspective, unlock potential, and accelerate meaningful action.

She specialises in ontology, the study of being, bringing that lens to leadership development, culture change, and learning design. As an award-winning speaker, author, and host of a podcast on consciousness and practice, she translates complex ideas into clear, practical frameworks that audiences can use immediately. Her work spans one-on-one coaching, multi-day workshops, and keynote presentations tailored to amplify impact at both personal and systemic levels.

Committed to the growth and evolution of human consciousness, she works with leaders, teams, and communities who are ready to deepen awareness, cultivate resilience, and create purposeful change.

Let's connect if you're looking to transform how you show up, lead, and learn.
